Meeting one:

Client sets out desired product. Including spec and structure that they want.

Wants:

Edits to our document to reflect the desired products more specifically improving understanding of the task ahead.

We will be making more of a scraper than the core app design due to the high value placed on the core application

This will also include having to handle the data (database work yippee)

Similar products:
- Datathistle.com

Summation:
- Not gonna be as creative as we thought
- Focus on webs scraping a data management
- Not great for showing our skills
- We could make a global web scraper cause presumably would be potentially easier to not have to check the location
